Report

A first half that offered promise with a number of flowing moves was, somehow, scoreless at the end. Rather than build on the momentum, STB reverted to long ball tactics and never looked the same threat as they had in the first half. A late and clumsy tackle by Lewis Franks resulted in a direct free kick for All Hallows. The shot had plenty of whip and pace and, unfortunately for us, was turned in at the second attempt. A frantic finish ended in disappointment when Alex Barlow failed to convert a chance in the last minute. It was a fair result and a lesson learnt – football should be played on the floor.
